Leadership Lackawanna Holding Executive Program

SCRANTON, PA, July 20, 2007— Leadership Lackawanna is accepting registrations for the Executive Program. Sessions begin September 18, 2007 and run each Tuesday through October 16 from 6:00 to 9:00 PM at various locations. Each seminar consists of presentations that are facilitated by well-known experts in a variety of fields.

Sponsored by Leadership Lackawanna, the Executive Program is designed to assist new area residents in making a knowledgeable transition to living in the community, and assist new executives develop a network of business contacts. The program is open to public and private sector professionals/key executives who have either recently moved to the greater Scranton/Lackawanna County area or have recently been promoted to an executive level position. Executives who have recently returned to the region are also encouraged to apply. Applicants should be interested in learning how Lackawanna County functions and be committed to enhancing the area's economy and quality of life.

Through five weekly sessions, the participants have an opportunity to meet key business and community leaders and to receive an extensive overview of the area's history, economic and political structures, cultural affairs, and leisure amenities.

“The Executive Program not only made us feel welcome, but it also provided an excellent overview of the greater Scranton area,” stated Dr. Edward G. and Regina Boehm, Keystone College. “This program offers the opportunity to learn about the area's fascinating history and its vast cultural and recreational activities. It is also a great way to meet other new families in the area and to develop lasting friendships.”

All programs include cocktails, gourmet dinners, and program materials. The series is limited to ten executive professional participants for tuition of $650. Spouses or guests attend free. To register, visit www.scrantonchamber.com or contact Julie Ropoch at 570.342.7711, or at jropoch@scrantonchamber.com. The application deadline is Friday, August 31. Brochures are available at the Chamber, 222 Mulberry Street, Scranton. For more information, log on to www.leadershiplackawanna.com.
